Description:

Things are turning around for seventeen-year-old Peggy Fitzroy, a once-orphaned spy. Her father is back from the dead, and her unwanted engagement has been called off for good. But when a mysterious veiled woman shows up, Peggy uncovers a fresh slew of questions about her past, present, and future. Now Peggy is back at the palace, unsure of the loyalties she thought she held. With the Jacobite uprising stalking ever closer to the throne, it's imperative that Peggy discover who she can really trust. Can she save herself and the royal family, or is she doomed as a pawn in this most deadly game?

This series is so fun. It is YA, but any fan of the lighter side of historical mysteries will be happy. Not too long has passed since the last book as we start off at Uncle Pierpont's funeral. A mystery woman arrives in heavy veils and gives a Jacobite token to Aunt Pierpont garnering strange reactions from Aunt Pierpont, Old Mother Pierpont, and Sophy Howe. Soon the older females decamp for northern family members and Olivia is at court along with her cousin. Strange undercurrents are going on with the Howe and Sebastian being helpful? plotting? something else? Hijinks ensue because it is teenagers in high stakes espionage, but really great. Really excited to see how the big reveal at the end will play out
